

Australia

HERBERT
SMITH
FREEHILLS

The Society of Construction Law Australia and Herbert Smith Freehills invite you to the Annual Christmas drinks of the Society which will follow the panel presentation and discussion on:

"Procurement – Is there a cheaper way?"

Tuesday 28 November 2017

5.45 pm for 6.00 pm start

Drinks commence at 7.15 pm

There is no doubt that the Australian market for procurement of infrastructure and construction projects is capacity constrained. There has been a rise in the cost of traditional procurement despite the best efforts of Government and the Private Sector to keep the resources required to tender for a project to a bare minimum. The prevalence of Unsolicited Proposals has further exacerbated the increase in resources and costs required to achieve success. What can we do to help contain costs and resources in a capacity constrained market. Is there a cheaper way ?

Speakers:

Peter Paradise	Head of Projects, Herbert Smith Freehills
Thomas Son	Manager, Commercial and Legal, Downer
Rod MacKinnon	Director Legal & Company Secretary, Sydney Motorway Corporation

Venue: Herbert Smith Freehills

Level 33, ANZ Tower
161 Castlereagh Street
SYDNEY NSW 2000

To book: Please email:
Cathie Witcombe
Society of Construction Law Australia
admin@scl.org.au

Cost: No charge

The presentation will be followed by an opportunity to celebrate the end of 2017 and network with your colleagues over drinks.