Professional Development Seminar: The Neuroscience of Leadership

on Wednesday 2 May 2018, 5:30pm for a 6:00 pm start

at Mills Oakley, Level 14, 145 Ann Street, Brisbane

Join us for a seminar with a professional development focus - an evening with Anna Waters from NeuroPower to explore the Neuroscience of Leadership and gain valuable skills that you can apply to your everyday working environment.

Anna will explore how the cognitive revolution has transformed our understanding of how we make decisions, behaviour and effectiveness as well provide insight on practical methodologies and practices to enhance your leadership impact in the workplace.

Anna Waters specialises in engagement, motivation and performance within organisations. Anna has a deep understanding of neuroscience and psychology, which gives insight into human behaviour in the workplace. As a management consultant, Anna applies evidence based frameworks and methodologies to help individuals, teams and organisations to realise and exceed their potential.

Anna is a registered psychologist with AHPRA and a member of the Australian Psychological Society. She has a Masters Degree in Organisational Psychology and Bachelor of Arts (Hons) at The University of Queensland.
